

NATIONAL EuroPsy website

What should your National EuroPsy website contain:

The Full Members of EFPA participating in EuroPsy are required to have a webpage in their own language providing general information about EuroPsy that is in accordance with the Regulations. This EFPA document specifies the information that must be incorporated in the website.

Name and Logos

We strongly advise to register the national EuroPsy domain name in your country.

The name of the webpage should include the word 'EuroPsy' so that it can be found by search engines. The name EuroPsy on top of the webpage should be accompanied by the text 'European Standard in Psychology'.

The webpage must use the official logos of EuroPsy and EFPA, together with the logo of the FM. No other logos should be included.

The EuroPsy logo is both an international and European protected trademark and may only be used in matters related to EuroPsy. The logo may not be changed or adapted in any way but may be translated in your national language.

Content

The webpage must provide the following information presented in the language of the country. The EFPA wording in green should be used exactly as written here, unchanged, as it is derived from the Regulations.

Contact for further information and support

Please get in touch with Ivana MARINOVIC.

What is EuroPsy?

(Text from EFPA website):

EuroPsy, the European Standard and Certificate in Psychology set by the European Federation of Psychologists' Associations AISBL (EFPA), aims to set a common standard of competence in all the countries where it is acknowledged.

The EuroPsy Certificate and Specialist EuroPsy Certificate can be awarded to individual psychologists who meet the conditions specified in these Regulations.

The EuroPsy certificate does not represent a licence to practise and is not intended to supersede or replace national licensing.

Information on what EuroPsy is can be found at <https://www.efpa.eu/europsy>

Link to the EFPA EuroPsy page for up-to-date information

(Link(s) to): National Requirements for practising as a Psychologist in different Fields of Practice / Specialism: [NATIONAL LINK(S)].

EuroPsy Certificates and Register

The European Register

(Text from EFPA website):

The European Register of Psychologists is a register which provides a record of each Registered EuroPsy Psychologist or Registered Specialist EuroPsy Psychologist.

The Register can be consulted here: [EFPA LINK WILL BE SUPPLIED WHEN THE NEW REGISTER IS LIVE].

Issuing of EuroPsy Certificate / EuroPsy Specialist Certificates and how to apply

An application for a EuroPsy Certificate and / or EuroPsy Specialist Certificate can be made here:

[NATIONAL LINK]

Provide links for applying for EuroPsy and EuroPsy Specialist Certificates, and TEMPLATES

FAQs

Text from EFPA

A list of FAQs about EuroPsy can be found at <https://www.efpa.eu/europsy/faq>

Add (if any) national FAQs on national certificate application processes or other relevant matters

Further information

The webpage shall specify the contact email address of the National EuroPsy Committee.

It shall also contain a link to the EFPA EuroPsy site: <https://www.efpa.eu/europsy>

Version 01 April 2025